Matrix Information

The series shown above will run in magazines, according to Keyboard Diagram No. 98, as follows: The four sizes of 6 point and the "C" size of the 12 point will run in either lower case, center or cap channels of all machines except Models 1 and K. With the exception of letters B and D in center, and R in lower case channels, the "B" size of the 12 point will run in either lower case, center or cap channels of all machines except Models 1 and K; these two sizes will not, however, run in center or lower case channels of lower magazines of Models 2 and 4. The "A" and the full size of 12 point will run in cap channels only of all machines except Models 1 and K. The eight sizes of this series can also be cut to run in the auxiliary magazine of the Single Keyboard Models 14 and 26.

Alignment.—The four sizes of 6 point are on the same alignment, and will cast on a 6 point slug. The four sizes of 12 point are on the same alignment, and will cast on a 13 point slug. To align any of the 6 point sizes with the 12 point, cast the 12 point on a 6 point slug, overhanging, and the 6 point line on the second slug will align perfectly at the bottom with the 12 point overhanging character.
