It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR OF FACTORIES AND WORKSHOPS, SECURITY BUILDING,
CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 15, 1904.

To His Excellency, HON. RICHARD YATES, Governor of Illinois,

DEAR SIR—I have the honor to submit herewith in the form of a bi-annual report the eleventh and twelfth annual reports of the Inspectors of Factories and Workshops for the years ending Dec. 15, 1903 and 1904.

Very respectfully yours,

EDGAR T. DAVIES,
Chief Inspector of Factories and Workshops.

530233

To His Excellency, RICHARD YATES, Governor State of Illinois:

GOVERNOR—In compliance with section 9 of the statutes creating the Factory and Workshop Inspector's Department of this State, I have the honor to lay before you on behalf of this department the eleventh and twelfth annual reports of the work performed by the Illinois Department of Factory and Workshop Inspectors, and desire to make such recommendations for additional legislation as my experience in enforcing the law has shown to be urgently required. Owing to the unfortunate and unavoidable delay in the compilation of the tenth annual report of this department (the same not being ready for distribution until 18 months after it was forwarded to the publisher) and in view of the necessity for economy, together with the fact that the 1904 report would include much information which would be a duplication of the data as compiled in the 1903 report, it has been deemed advisable to combine the two reports and to publish this volume as a bi-annual report.

The past two years have been unquestionably the most active in the history of the department, a much greater field of inspection having been covered, many changes made and new laws enacted, thus entailing a great increase in work, the 43rd General Assembly having acted upon the suggestions embodied in my annual report of 1902, enacted a complete and very comprehensive new Child Labor Law. A detailed review of the law's provisions, its application and general operation, together with a descriptive report of the work performed to put the statute in effect, is included in this report. The Legislature also adopted the suggestion embodied in the tenth annual report of this department, that the force of deputy inspectors be increased, by amending section 9 of the statute entitled "An Act to regulate the manufacture of garments and wearing apparel," changing the same so as to increase the corps of deputy inspectors from ten in number to eighteen. It had been hoped and was much to be desired, that the corps of deputies would have been increased to a greater number, as the needs of the department most urgently required a considerable increase in the corps. Under the old law there were ten deputy inspectors, five men and five women, but owing to the limited field of operation at that time, the efforts of the deputies were almost entirely confined to Chicago; only two inspectors being assigned to duty in the territory in the State outside of Cook County. The Legislature's addition of eight deputy inspectors has greatly helped the work, and the raising of the salary of deputies from $750 to $1000 a year has had a most beneficial tendency in increasing the standard of efficiency. To-day the department is composed of a Chief, Assistant Chief and eighteen deputy inspectors, seven of the deputies being women; five deputies are assigned to the territory outside of Cook County. Even this force is entirely inadequate to properly cope with existing conditions.

The new Child Labor Law has made considerable extra work and in its operation has been productive of many occasions for special investigation and much unforeseen labor. The present inadequate law, providing for the regulation of the manufacture of garments and wearing apparel, has made the tax upon the present corps of inspectors so great that it has been necessary to keep one-third of the force busy day and night. I shall include in this report in its proper order a more thorough detailed description of the department's efforts along the lines of educating and instructing employers throughout the entire State, as to the requirements of the new child labor law, and of the vast amount of work performed to put the same in operation. Many difficulties unforeseen have been met with, and it has indeed been a most trying task to successfully handle the problem, owing to the failure of the Legislature to appropriate sufficient money to properly operate the department.

During the year 1903, 22,133 establishments were inspected, of which number 21,988 were inspected for child labor and the statute regulating the manufacture of garments and wearing apparel; 145 grinding and metal polishing establishments were visited under the law requiring all grinding and metal polishing wheels to be protected with blowers, exhaust fans, etc. Of the 22,133 places inspected, 15,023 were in the county of Cook, and in all other counties 6,965. Number of cities outside of Chicago visited and inspected by deputy inspectors, 154; number of second inspections 1,892, making a total of inspections for the year 24,025. The inspectors report having found 530,185 people employed, of which number 413,714 were males above the age of sixteen, 107,975 females above the age of sixteen, 9,388 boys under the age of sixteen, and 6,108 girls under the age of sixteen. Of this number of employes 378,349 were in the county of Cook, 158,836 were employed in the State outside of Cook County. Total number of children found employed, 15,496. This shows great improvement and is a remarkable decrease over the previous year (1902) when 19,225 children under the age of sixteen years were found employed. This is a decrease of 3,729 children since 1902, and is a decrease in percentage from 3.7 of the total number employed to 2.9; increase in number of inspections over the year 1902, 2,453; increase in the number of men employed 20,064; women 8,948. You will therefore see, that during the year there has been a great increase in the employment of men and women, but a considerable reduction in child labor.

The results for 1904 are more encouraging. A detailed statistical report of the work accomplished by the department during the past two years has been arranged in table form and included in this volume. These tables form a digest of the field covered, work accomplished and progress made in the reduction of child labor by the department since its conception.

The following are the figures for the year 1904, which has been a very strenuous year from a view point of activity, work accomplished and increased effort: During the year 1904, 45,839 establishments were inspected, of which number 45,690 were inspections made for the purpose of enforcing the child labor law and the statute regulating the manufacture of garments and wearing apparel, 149 metal polishing establishments. Number of places revisited and reinspected, 6,342, making a total of inspections for the year 52,181. Of this number 28,572 were in Cook County; 17,118 in the State outside of Cook County. During the year 311 cities and towns outside of Chicago were visited and inspected. This is an increase over 1903 of 166 cities and towns, and an increase of 175 over 1902, thus entailing great additional expense in railroad and hotel bills, printing, correspondence, etc.

The inspectors report for the year 1904, 655,572 people employed, of which number 506,791 were males over sixteen years of age; 140,370 females over sixteen years of age; 7,791 boys under sixteen years of age; 4,620 girls under sixteen years of age, making a total number of children employed 12,411. This is a decrease for the year of 3,085 women. There has been an increase among the employes of 93,077 men, 32,395 women, or a total increase in the number of employes of 122,387. During 1904 the department made 30,173 more inspections than the previous year, an increase of 32,646 over the year 1902, which is an increase of 34,972 as compared to 1901, the year previous to the assuming of the duties of the department by the present chief. In other words, the department, under your administration, has tripled the number of inspections made, and reduced child labor over 33½ per cent.

During the past two years our reports indicate an increase of 147,469 more men and women employed. It is exceedingly gratifying to note the remarkable decrease in child labor. This is directly due to a thorough systematic inspection of all places of business, the enactment of the new Child Labor law and the rigorous enforcement of the same, which could not have been possible had not the department followed the policy of prosecution, when warning failed to have its effect. Being a firm believer that laws can best be obeyed when thoroughly understood, exhaustive efforts have been put forth to acquaint managers of all business houses, manufacturing establishments, mercantile institutions, etc., with the requirements and provisions of the Child Labor law.

In regard to prosecutions, the policy has been to overlook technical exceptions and first violations in all cases where the circumstances have been at all extenuating or mitigating. When these have been first reported the department has been somewhat indulgent, believing that the violation may have occurred inadvertently, and in all such instances the employer has been warned, furnished with a copy of the law and a letter of instructions, and given to understand that the law must be strictly obeyed, that in the future failure to comply with the requirements of the statute would result in prosecution. We have endeavored to secure the co-operation of the employers in the observance of the law, without going to the necessity of prosecution, but in instances where violations have recurred and have been directly traceable to carelessness, the experience of the department has demonstrated that the imposing of a fine against employers in whose establishments frequent violations occur, has produced a careful compliance thereafter.

The decrease of 3,729 children employed last year as compared to the year 1902, together with the fact that there are 3,085 less children employed this year than there were last year (1903), in round numbers makes a total reduction in the last two years of 6,814 children. When the decrease of 614 children in 1902 (the year the writer assumed the chiefship of this department), is added thereto, it makes a total decrease in child labor during your administration of 7,428, a reduction of over 33½ per cent. The present percentage of children to the total number employed in Illinois is 1.9 per cent, or in other words nineteen children to the thousand, which I believe is the lowest percentage of child labor employed in any industrial State in the Union. I do not believe these figures can be seriously contradicted, because they have been garnered after a thorough inspection of over 52,000 business establishments, and are not the approximate number of employés, but the result of actual count.

CRUSADES CARRIED ON DURING THE YEAR.

During the last two years the department has inaugurated systematic crusades in its efforts to suppress child labor. Some of the lines of work which are of special interest, may be mentioned: The efforts put forth to abolish night work for children, which required inspectors to visit the various manufacturing plants and establishments at night. As a result of these visits a great number of violations were found and resulted in numerous prosecutions. Upwards of 1,200 factories were visited, in many of which it had been customary to employ children 10 and 12 hours per day, often keeping them in the plant until late at night.

In the conducting of these crusades the chief inspector personally accompanied the inspectors on their rounds. Investigators were detailed to canvass the city of Chicago, street by street, gathering data as to what concerns were working at night. Upon receipt of these reports at the office squads were organized and detailed for night duty, the inspectors usually travelling in pairs, some times as many as four inspectors working in one squad. They would call at the plant and if it was a large one an inspector would be detailed to each floor, all of the departments of the establishment would be simultaneously inspected. It was no uncommon thing to find twenty-five or thirty-five violations in one night, and the records of the department show in several instances as high as fifty and sixty violations being reported as the result of one night's work. So common were the violations that compliance with the law was the exception, in so far as the law regulating the hours was concerned. Conditions are quite different this winter, during which period the inspectors have gone over the same ground and visited the same establishments, and the reports indicate that violation now is the exception rather than the rule. These efforts resulted in absolutely putting a stop to the inhuman practice of managers of certain paper box factories, candy manufacturers, printers, lithographers and binders, and other kindred and manufacturing trades, from working little girls on machines from early morning until late at night, the character of whose work often required them to remain constantly standing, or to operate dangerous and hazardous machinery.

During the past two years the department has succeeded in cleaning out the concert and dance halls of child song and dance artists, juvenile soubrettes and child actors. We have put a stop to the practice of messenger and public service corporations in the employment of telegraph boys under the age of sixteen during the hours of the night, also reduced the hours of telegraph boys under the age of sixteen who were employed in the daytime from ten hours to the present standard scale, which is eight hours per day. We have made frequent and thorough inspections of the glass bottle manufacturing establishments, where formerly it was the custom to employ great numbers of children in the day and night shifts. In this regard men have supplanted the boys at night and the number of children employed during the day has been greatly reduced and their hours curtailed. During the holiday season, or a period beginning about six weeks before Christmas, close watch is kept on all merchandise establishments, the nature of whose business would require them to keep their stores open in the evenings or to keep the employés of their wholesale establishments and warehouses late at night.

In this regard and worthy of mention reference might be made to the large dry goods houses and department stores located in Chicago and other cities, in which places it has been customary to employ a great number of children under the age of sixteen as messenger boys, bundle wrappers, or as cash boys or cash girls, wagon boys, etc. In previous years these children were required to come to work early in the morning and remain until late at night, or as long as the establishment was open for business, which frequently required the youngsters to remain anywhere from 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock in the morning until 10:00 and 11:00 p.m., their weak and immature bodies tired and worn out under the strain of the customary holiday rush. In the putting a stop to this practice of employing small children ten and thirteen hours per day, the department found it necessary to institute frequent prosecutions. While our efforts were successful, we met with serious opposition, and in some cases almost continuous litigation, some 300 arrests being necessary to bring about the desired results, which finally secured the eight hour day and a good night's rest for the small army of toilers engaged in the candy and paper box manufacturing establishments and department stores. In the department stores of Chicago alone 1400 children were sent home before 7:00 o'clock at night; the children who were permitted to come to work at 8:00 o'clock in the morning were required to go home before 5:00 o'clock in the evening, and those who came at 9:00 o'clock in the morning were required to go home before 6:00 o'clock; those who were required to stay as late as 7:00 o'clock in the evening were not permitted to come to work before 10:00 o'clock in the morning. They were given from a half to an hour for luncheon, with fifteen or twenty minutes rest in the morning and afternoon.

In conducting these investigations and crusades the inspectors met with some surprises in the way of unique excuses. In Chicago a manager of a very representative first class department store, one of the largest of its kind, gave as his reason for not obeying the law, that they had never been interfered with before. Another, that the children preferred to be in the store rather than at home. The unnaturalness of this latter excuse can be readily realized by anyone who has stepped into a large department store during the holiday season, when the clerks are tired and cross and little consideration is shown to the cash boy or cash girl who, because he or she may be tired or physically frail, might be a little tardy in running an errand or wrapping a bundle. This character of work for long hours is deleterious to a child, as are the employments in many branches of the garment trade or other industries, which labor is so openly condemned by those who have been interested in anti-child labor movements.

During the periods of the year when the garment trades are experiencing their busy seasons, the inspectors have been detailed to the inspection of clothing establishments and sweat shops. The operators of sweat shops as a rule are a difficult class of employers to handle, and have usually been considered flagrant violators of labor laws, working under high pressure where the nerves of employes are constantly strained to produce the maximum output at the smallest possible wage. They are an itinerant class and the system of subcontracting is followed in the garment trades, and the keen competition in this particular field of labor has produced a class of sweat shop operators whose proper regulation and control is a problem in itself. Every trick of the trade, every elusive and evasive answer to deceive the inspector is resorted to. We have in Chicago upwards of 3,000 garments producing establishments, commonly referred to as sweat shops, and owing to the clannishness of the various nationalities engaged in this industry, have geographically speaking formed colonies. When an inspector makes a visit to a sweatshop for the inspection of child labor, or to look into the conditions under which the garments are being manufactured, it is not very many minutes before the majority of the sweat shops in the block know that he is in the neighborhood. The inspector is quite frequently handicapped, because of the fact that the proprietor and the employes all speak a foreign tongue; it is no uncommon thing for an inspector to be questioning a child as to its age and educational qualifications, naturally speaking in the English language, and the child is being coached what to say by the employer or a fellow employe in a foreign language. We have found it necessary to quite frequently detail several inspectors to inspect even the smallest shops, one to watch the back door while the other goes in the front. Even then children will be found employed, who are regular employes of the establishment, but who will positively affirm to the inspector that they are merely visiting the shop, making a social call on some employe located therein. During the past two years we have found it necessary to frequently inspect the sweat shops of Chicago, instituting frequent prosecutions, and I am pleased to report as a result of these efforts, that there has been an improvement in school attendance in the schools located in the localities where sweat shops are found, considerably less sickness among these juveniles and a reduction of over one-third in the number of children under sixteen years of age employed.

The conditions which existed in previous years at the stock yards, where great numbers of small boys and girls were employed in the packing industry, have been materially changed during the past two years. The department caused frequent investigations and inspections of all packing houses to be made, finding it necessary to prosecute nearly all the large packers for violating the child labor law. Owing to the great area covered by the stock yards and the magnitude of the plants engaged in business therein, the work of the inspection of packing industries was difficult to properly handle. Cause of frequent complaint has been the employment of small boys in the tin can manufacturing departments of these establishments, where dangerous and hazardous machinery is used in the construction of the tin cans. Boys have been permitted to be employed long hours and general laxity on the part of the managers was shown in regard to the ages of the children. As the result of frequent inspections and prosecutions resulting therefrom, the conditions have been so improved that to-day there are practically no children employed in the yards by the packers in their plants, except those boys who may be employed in the offices or as messengers. Occasionally we find a few boys in the tin shops, but these are usually boys who have posed as being over sixteen or whose parents have made false affidavits that they are over sixteen years of age.

In regard to the meat packing industry, the department has inaugurated a frequent and systematic inspection program, of all plants doing business in the stock yards of Chicago and East St. Louis, and we are gratified to report that there has been considerably less complaint relative to this particular industry.

CHILD LABOR IN THE COAL MINES ABOLISHED.

During the fall of 1903 the department construed the new Child Labor law to apply to coal mines. The chief inspector was requested by the secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association to give an opinion as to his construction of section 11 of the act, which includes the words "no child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed at any occupation which may be considered hazardous or dangerous." Complying with this request I informed the secretary of the association that these words referred to as used in section 11 should be construed to prohibit children under 16 years of age to be employed in coal mines. The coal operators took exception to the law being so construed, and through their attorneys, Lawrence & Folsom, contended that the Child Labor law did not apply to coal mines, contending that section 22 of an act entitled, "An act to revise the laws in relation to coal mines and subjects relating thereto, and providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein," approved April 18, 1889, in force July 1, 1889, was so worded as to provide that no woman or young child under the age of fourteen should be employed in a coal mine, and that all children above the age of fourteen should provide the employer with a notary public affidavit as to their age. The contention of the attorneys of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association was, that section 22, as above referred to was so worded as to permit a child over the age of fourteen to be employed in a coal mine, provided the child has on file an affidavit as to its age, and that since the act in question was special legislation and that the Illinois Constitution provided for special legislation for coal mines, they contended that the Illinois Child Labor law of 1903 was general legislation and could not repeal this special statute by implication.

After further investigation of the subject and reviewing numerous decisions in which the Supreme Court of this State held that the mining of coal was a dangerous occupation, I reiterated my former opinion and notified the coal operators to cease employing minors under the age of 16 in any occupation which required said minors to be employed under ground, and to discharge all such children then employed. This action was the cause of serious objection, because of its far reaching effects, there being at that time over 2,000 children employed in the coal mines of Illinois.

As the technical legal question raised by the coal operators, that the Child Labor law did not repeal any of the provisions of section 22 of an act entitled, "An act to revise the laws in relation to coal mines," was a question for the courts, and the courts alone, to pass upon, it was agreed between the attorneys for the operators and the chief of this department, to bring a test case. Therefore an inspector was detailed to make an inspection of a coal mine in Staunton, Macoupin county, Illinois, proprietors of which were members of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association. Deputy Inspector William Ehn, who made the inspection, reported that he found in the Staunton coal mine four or five boys under the age of 16 years employed at various occupations, such as trapper boys, etc. Information was then filed through the State's attorney of Macoupin county, in the county court located at Carlinville. The case was seriously contested, the defendant, Mr. Struthers, manager of the Staunton coal mine, being represented by Lawrence & Folsom, general attorneys for the Coal Operators' Association. The State's case was handled by the State's attorney of Macoupin county, assisted by the chief inspector of this department. On conclusion of the evidence the court convicted Mr. Struthers on three counts; minimum fine was imposed in each. The case was appealed to the Third District Appellate Court at Springfield, which honorable tribunal after reviewing the evidence, rendered a decision sustaining the Macoupin county court and the contention of the department, that the law did apply to coal mines and that section 11 of the Illinois Child Labor law prohibited the employment of children under the age of 16 in any occupation in a coal mine.

After this decision was rendered a conference was held between the chief factory inspector and the attorneys for the Coal Operators' Association, and an agreement entered into, that no action would be taken by the factory inspector's department against the operators until the executive committee of the association had had an opportunity to consider whether an appeal would be taken from the Appellate court's decision. Within a few days I received information from the association's attorneys that the executive committee of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association had decided not to appeal from the Appellate court's decision, but to accept and comply with the same. Consequently instructions were issued to the various owners and managers of mines located throughout Illinois, that no more children under the age of 16 should be permitted or suffered to be employed. This resulted in some 2,200 children being discharged from the coal mines of this State, thus making sixteen years the minimum age limit which minors may be employed in coal mines located in Illinois. The coal industry in this State is a very important one, its magnitude I believe is not generally realized. There are 993 coal mines whose general output is 36,000,000 tons of coal per year, from which it is not difficult to conceive why serious objection was made to the Child Labor law being construed to include the same.

A full and complete report of the decision of the appellate court is included in this volume. (See index.)

EFFECT OF THE NEW CHILD LABOR LAW ON THE GLASS BOTTLE INDUSTRY.

Much has been said in the past regarding the glass companies, with whom it has been the custom to employ great numbers of boys, both day and night, and who as the chief opponents to the passage of the present Child Labor law contended before the last General Assembly that the enactment of the same would drive the glass industry from the State. After the law's enactment, I confess that it was with some apprehension I watched closely the result of the law's application to the glass industry, and am pleased to report that it has not up to the present date driven any glass manufacturing establishment from the State, but several have come in; one being located at Ottawa and the other at Paris, Illinois.

It is true that the new Child Labor law has been an expensive one to operators of this industry, as it has been closely applied and enforced in regard to the same. All glass bottle manufacturing establishments of any size within the State have been prosecuted during the past two years by this department, and in one instance the proprietor was indicted on some thirty counts. Child labor has wonderfully decreased in this industry, night work for juveniles has been abolished, wages among the male help noticeably increased, and men (foreigners, Servian, Italian, Greek, etc.,) have supplanted boys in many instances, and at a higher wage. I had hoped to have the time to procure the data to treat more thoroughly of the glass industry in this report, but will have to forego a review of the same until a future volume, when it is to be desired that the subject may be reviewed at length logically and impartially.

A full and itemized report of all prosecutions brought by the department during the past two years, has been prepared and included in this volume. (See Index.) The report has been arranged so as to give the names of the individual defendants, trial judge, date of trial and penalties imposed.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE LEGISLATURE.

Our work in the inspection of sweat shops has conclusively convinced me of the urgent need and the vital necessity for the enactment of a more practical law to regulate the manufacture of garments and wearing apparel. The statute under which we now operate is entirely inadequate and almost useless. I regret that the 43d General Assembly did not have an opportunity to consider the draft of a measure suggested in the tenth annual report of this department, and sincerely trust that the next convening Assembly will give this subject attention, and enact some measure which will more adequately provide for the safeguarding of the general public health and the protection and comfort of employes engaged in this industry. I have prepared and submitted for the consideration of the members of the Legislature a draft of a bill, which if enacted will enable this department to more successfully cope with the sweat shop evil. (See Index.)

In this connection I desire to report that the department during the past year has also given very careful consideration to the existing conditions under which the laboring men and women work in the mills and factories in this State. The more one goes into the question and studies the problem, the more firmly is one convinced of the great need of legislation providing for the safeguarding of hazardous and dangerous machinery, and from the view point of common humanity, the necessity for improvement in hygienic and sanitary conditions. Illinois has no statute on the subject and it is the only industrial State in the Union whose Legislature has failed to consider in this regard the welfare of the men and women who toil. I respectfully submit and embody in this report, in the way of a suggestion, a draft of such a measure, which if enacted will go far towards alleviating the objectionable existing conditions, and will in a measure safeguard the lives and limbs of the bread winners of this State. (See Index.)

I would also suggest that a legislative committee be appointed to investigate the conditions under which women labor, that from their findings some action may be taken which experience dictates is necessary for their welfare and comfort, the protection of their health and general moral promotion.

Also submitted herewith for the consideration of the Legislature is a crude draft of an Act to provide for improved hygienic and sanitary conditions in food producing establishments, the enforcement of which should in this State as in other industrial states come properly under the authority of the State Department of Factory and Workshop Inspectors. Other states have such measures, either in composite statutes covering the subject or in separate acts, such as laws applying to bake shops, rendering plants, meat butchers and packers, candy factories, etc., or laws regulating food producing establishments. To the experienced investigator the conditions existing at present in Illinois warrant the enactment of some law or laws similar to the one herewith submitted. (See Index.)

Last, but not least, in the way of suggestions, is the need for a larger appropriation. Illinois might be said to have never properly provided adequate appropriations for its department of factory inspection. An impartial review of the results obtained by the department will certainly convince the most impartial member of the House or Senate, of the necessity for more liberal appropriations. It is one proposition to enact laws but a different problem to enforce them. If laws are to be enacted they should be enforced, and it is exceedingly difficult to do so unless sufficient monies are provided to properly operate the department charged with the enforcement. Each year in the past history of the department certain valuable and much to be desired efforts have been left undone, because of the lack of necessary funds to accomplish the same.

The new Child Labor law has entailed considerable unforeseen expense and labor, but it has accomplished such commendable results that the legislators who believe in the doctrine of "prevention as well as cure", will do well to appropriate sufficient monies for the proper enforcement of the new law, which will go far towards reducing delinquency, increasing school attendance and the promotion of education, thus increasing the standard of efficiency of the coming generation, the citizens of this State.

Being a firm believer in the policy, that a law is best obeyed when most thoroughly understood, I have endeavored since the law's enactment to thoroughly acquaint all employers with its provisions. The printing and postage expense and extra clerical hire made necessary under the new law, has made an extremely heavy tax upon the already limited appropriation, and when the General Assembly convenes I shall seek an opportunity to substantiate this argument, by submitting to the consideration of the House and Senate Appropriations Committee a detailed itemized estimate of the monies necessary to properly operate this department.

THE NEW CHILD LABOR LAW.

The new Child Labor law, a copy of which is appended to this report, with the exception of a few changes, is identical with the brief embodied in the tenth annual report of this department under the caption of "Bills suggested to the Legislature for enactment", the same having been submitted for your honorable consideration by the writer under date of Dec. 15th, 1902. The brief referred to was the result of the combined efforts, and was drafted by a sub-committee on child labor legislation, appointed by the Cook County Child Saving League, which organization is an association composed of representatives of the various eleemosynary and charitable organizations of Cook county.

The following is a personnel of the sub-committee:

Edwin G. Cooley, Superintendent of Schools of city of Chicago.

Hastings H. Hart, President Child's Home and Aid Society.

E. P. Bicknell, General Superintendent Chicago Bureau of Charities.

Jane Addams, Head Resident, Hull House.

Harriett M. Van der Vart, Industrial Committee, State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Judge R. S. Tuttle, Juvenile Court, Cook County.

George Thompson, Member of the Legislative Committee of the Federation of Labor.

T. D. Hurley, President Visitation and Aid Society.

W. L. Bodine, ex-officio Superintendent Compulsory Education.

Edgar T. Davies, Chief State Factory Inspector, Chairman of the Committee.

The committee was appointed as the result of the remarkable disclosures resulting from the crusades inaugurated by the Illinois Factory Inspector's Department in 1901 and 1902, when great numbers of violations of the Child Labor law were found, and the unhealthy, deleterious and devitalizing conditions under which the children were permitted to labor were exposed, all of which tended to establish the total inadequacy and laxity of the then existing Child Labor law. The general existing conditions under which children were working appealed strongly to the various reform and public spirited organizations, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the Child Saving organizations and other eleemosynary and charitable associations, who began to agitate and investigate the subject of child labor, and the Cook County Child Saving League convened for the purpose of considering the need of additional legislation on compulsory education and child labor, together with the necessity for the enactment of other juvenile reform laws. Two committees were named, one to consider and draft a new school attendance law (compulsory education law), another committee (the one above named) was appointed to draft and report to the entire committee an adequate law regulating the employment of children, that the same might cure or remedy existing conditions.

After considerable investigation and research, and frequent consultation, the sub-committee, taking as the basis for its consideration a draft of a measure as drawn by the industrial committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, revising and altering it so as to exclude certain provisions and to include certain additional requirements, which in the wisdom of the committee existing circumstances warranted and made necessary, submitted the brief which was embodied in the tenth annual report of this department, and submitted for consideration to the honorable members of the 43d General Assembly. In its considerably amended and altered form the bill was a composite draft of the desirable features included in laws of other states, with valuable and improved additions and certain provisions which because of existing local requirements were deemed expedient.

The bill was introduced into the House of Representatives Feb. 5, 1903, by the Hon. Frederick L. Davies, member from the Third Senatorial District and was known as House Bill No. 174. It was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industrial Affairs, which committee in the consideration of the measure went into the subject exhaustively, holding frequent open meetings where employers and manufacturers, and those who were most seriously interested were given an opportunity to be present and to be heard at the committee's conferences. On behalf of the passage of the bill, there appeared many representatives from charitable associations, juvenile reform organizations, women's clubs and the federation of labor, and a lobbying committee from the Cook County Child Saving League. The bill was seriously opposed in the open by the glass bottle manufacturing interests of the State and opposed secretly by certain other commercial influences. The House of Representatives Committee on Labor and Industrial Affairs, after most carefully and impartially considering the measure, decided to redraft the bill in some parts, making a few minor changes, and then reported the bill out as a Committee Bill No. 634, with the recommendation that it do pass.

The following indicate the more important changes and additions in the bill as passed by the Legislature, and the draft submitted by the child labor committee for the Legislature's consideration:

The changing of Section "1" to read:

"That no child under 14 years of age shall be employed at any work performed for wages or other compensation, to whomsoever payable, during any portion of any month when the public schools of the town, township or village or city, in which he or she resides are in session, nor be employed at any work before the hour of 7:00 o'clock in the morning or after the hour of 6:00 o'clock in the evening: Provided, that no child shall be allowed to work more than eight hours in any one day."

The changing of Section "4" to read:

"Minors under the age of 16 years so employed who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences."

Inserting in Section "5" the following:

"Provided, that the superintendent or principal of a parochial school shall have the right to approve an age and school certificate and shall have the same rights and powers as the superintendent of public schools to administer the oaths herein provided for children attending parochial schools."

Striking out of the provisions of "Evening School Certificates" in Section "7," the requirement to be able to read and write English, making it read as follows:

"An age and school certificate shall not be approved for a child under 16 years of age who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences."

Original draft read:

"That no child under 14 years of age shall be employed at any work performed for wages or other compensation, to whomsoever payable, during the hours when the public schools of the town, township, village or city, in which he or she resides are in session, nor be employed at any work before the hour of 6:00 o'clock in the morning or after the hour of 7:00 o'clock in the evening."

It did not provide any eight hour clause.

Original draft read:

"Minors under the age of 16 years so employed who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language."

In the original draft this provision was omitted.

Original draft read:

"An age and school certificate shall not be approved for a child under 16 years of age who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language."

Striking out the word "English" in Section "8," making it read as follows:

"No person shall employ any minor over 14 years of age and under 16 years, and no parent, guardian or custodian shall permit to be employed any such minor under his control, who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences, while a public evening school is maintained in the town or city in which such minor resides, unless such minor is a regular attendant at such evening school."

Changing Section "10" to read:

"No person under the age of 16 years shall be employed or suffered or permitted to work at any gainful occupation more than forty-eight hours in any one week, nor more than eight hours in any one day; or before the hour of 7:00 o'clock in the morning or after the hour of 7:00 o'clock in the evening."

Inserting in section "11," which section provides certain numerous employments forbidden to children under the age of 16, the words:

"Nor in any theatre, concert hall or place of amusement wherein intoxicating liquors are sold."

Adding to each of the penalty clauses in Section "14" the words "and shall stand committed until such fine and costs are paid."

The only notable changes made in the original draft are: The striking out of the word "English," which is much regretted by the friends of the law, as the experience of other States has indicated the advisability of all children being able to read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language, before they should be permitted to work. This provision has accomplished favorable and encouraging results in other States, and I am of the opinion, based upon my official experience, that it is advisable to include in the child labor law in this State a provision requiring that a child must be able to read and write legibly simple sentences in English, and that a child should have had a certain amount of schooling such as would properly prepare the child to take advantage of its opportunities.

The amendment of Section "10" by the Legislature, so as to provide for an eight hour day has pleased the friends of the law, and has accomplished remarkable results in reducing child labor, and would have been included in the original draft presented to the Legislature for consideration, were it not for the fact that the associations engaged in drafting the measure were apprehensive that it would not receive favorable consideration from the Legislature at this time.

The bill in its amended form passed the House almost unanimously, only one vote being recorded against it. It was then sent over to the Senate, where Senator Albert C. Clarke moved that the bill be put on the order of first reading without reference to committee. This action met with opposition, several motions being made, that the House Bill be referred to the Senate Committee on Labor; after considerable debate the chairman of the Senate, Lieu-

Original draft read:

"No person shall employ any minor over 14 years of age and under 16 years, and no parent, guardian or custodian shall permit to be employed any such minor under his control, who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language, while a public evening school is maintained in the town or city in which such minor resides, unless such minor is a regular attendant at such evening school."

Original draft read as follows:

"No person under the age of 16 years shall be employed or suffered or permitted to work at any gainful occupation more than sixty hours in one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day; or before the hour of 6:00 o'clock in the morning or after the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the evening."

In the original draft these words were omitted.

tenant Governor Northcott, declared the original motion carried and the House Bill was put on the order of first reading, without reference to committee.

During its passage through the Senate the bill had somewhat of a perilous career. Its opponents succeeded in amending it in such a manner as to destroy its best features and its merits, but in justice to the members of the Senate, who with few exceptions were friendly to the passage of the measure, it is deemed advisable to remark here that the amendments were added to the bill in the Senate when but very few Senators were present, a quorum not having been questioned. The following morning (Tuesday), the Senators who were friendly to the measure discovered the alteration, and to the gratification of a large lobby of public spirited citizens, who had come to Springfield in behalf of the passage of the measure, recalled the bill to the order of second reading, laid all its amendments on the table and placed it on the order of third reading in the form in which it was sent over from the House. On the 7th day of May, 1903, it passed the Senate and was signed by your Excellency on the 15th day of May, becoming effective as a law July 1, 1903.

Some of the results obtained, difficulties met with and handicaps under which the department labored in preparing the new law for enforcement, and later on its enforcement, may be readily understood from the following resume, descriptive as to the law's requirements and the department's efforts in promoting a general understanding of the statute and preparing for the work of its enforcement.

In its present form the law absolutely prohibits the employment of minors under the age of fourteen at any time of the year at certain occupations. It further provides that children under the age of fourteen years can only be employed at occupations other than those occupations absolutely prohibited in section 1, during the periods when the public schools of the town or village in which the child may reside are not in session.

It requires all employers to have what is known as an Age and School certificate (or permit to labor) issued by the superintendent of schools, which permit is based upon the school record and is only issued to children above 14 years of age who are able to read and write legibly simple sentences (any language). This change is so decidedly an improvement over the old notary public affidavit system, that it forever establishes the necessity for proof of age other than the mere word of the parent before the child may be permitted to be employed.

It prohibits minors between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years from being employed more than eight hours per day, or between the hours of 7:00 p. m. and 7:00 a. m.; thereby doing away with night work for small boys and girls.

It requires firms to keep a register of all minor employes under the age of sixteen, time cards to be posted, and in all establishments where five or more minors are employed, it requires a list to be posted on the wall, giving name and age of such minors.

In section 11 occupations considered hazardous, dangerous or deleterious to children are prohibited. This section also specifically enumerates some fourteen different occupations at which children under the age of 16 years are not permitted to be employed, and it further provides that no boy or girl under the age of 16 shall be permitted or suffered to be employed in any theatre, concert hall or place of amusement where liquor is sold.

The provisions of the law, requiring age and school certificate (permit to labor) to be issued by the school officials, place the authority in the hands of the superintendent and principal of schools, who are thus better enabled to successfully encourage the children to remain in school. The necessity of proof of age being established before an age and school certificate (permit to labor) can be issued, has acted as an effective check in preventing immature and under age children from quitting school before they had finished the essential studies, and has been one of the most valuable aids in increasing the average school attendance.

The superintendents of public and parochial schools have equal authority to issue certificates to children who have attended their respective schools. While it is to be regretted that the law does not require an applicant to labor to be able to read at sight and write legibly in English, the law does require a child who cannot read and write in any language to go to night school, before he or she can be legally employed, and that while employed the child must produce to the employer each week a certificate showing his or her attendance at night school. The employer, by the law's provisions, is made responsible, to see to it that a child who cannot read and write legibly simple sentences is attending school.

In cases arising where a child cannot prove its age, then the juvenile and county courts have jurisdiction to examine the child, and if the court is satisfied that the child is of the age of 14 or above, the court may issue an affidavit to that effect, and direct the school officials to issue to the child an age and school certificate (permit to labor) in exchange for said affidavit; provided, the child can read and write legibly simple sentences (in any language).

The age and school certificate (permit to labor) includes an identification as to the description of the child who is the owner of the certificate, thus minimizing the danger of the certificate being passed to a substitute, who perhaps could not pass the educational test, or might be under age. This indeed is a remarkable improvement over the old system, which merely required the parent to appear before a notary public and make affidavit that the child was 14 years of age and above. Under the notary public system, which existed in this State until July 1, 1903, any child of tender years could go to work, as the only difficulty to surmount was the procuring of twenty five (25) cents to pay the notary public for making out the affidavit, because the parents of children 11 and 12 years of age, in several thousand instances did appear before notaries public and make affidavit that their children were 14 years of age and above. No effective effort to stop this abuse could be put forth, because to prosecute the parent the department would necessarily have to bring the charge of perjury, which was too severe, and in many instances unfair, because the parents, who were ignorant foreigners, did not appreciate the magnitude or seriousness of the offense.

Under the new or present Child Labor law, through the wording of section 14, it is now possible to arrest a parent who swears falsely to the age of a child or who permits children to be employed contrary to any of the provisions of the law. These parents may be arrested on a regular State warrant and brought before a justice of the peace, court of competent jurisdiction, and upon conviction be fined from $5.00 to $25.00. This has been done in several instances, where parents have forced their children to work long hours or to work at night, and has had a most beneficial effect, because the predicament of the parent and the news of the conviction very readily spreads in the neighborhood of the defendant (the parent) and others take notice, governing themselves accordingly. One great defect in the old law, which has been remedied in the new, is the changing of the penalty clause, so that a magistrate now has jurisdiction and can impose a fine, and the defendant upon conviction is committed until such fines and costs are paid, all fines going to the school board of the county in which the prosecution is brought.

Owing to the fact that the new law became effective at a time when all the schools were closed (July 1st, 1903), and that the age and school certificates (permits to labor) must be issued by the school authorities, this department devoted the months of July and August to a campaign of education, during which time we had 50,000 copies of the law printed, 25,000 sample school and sample age and school certificates, 35,000 each of wall lists and time cards, and a general letter of instruction, one each of which were mailed to the manager of every establishment in the State whose place of business had been previously inspected at one time or another since the department was organized. In Chicago eighteen inspectors were detailed to make a street by street canvass, where sample certificates, copies of the law, wall lists, etc., were left with the manager, and oral instruction furnished as to the provisions and requirements of the new Child Labor law. In doing this work the inspectors were required to visit 17,000 different establishments in the city of Chicago, and at each place visited all the notary public affidavits on file for children employed were examined, and those which were issued previous to July 1st, 1903, were stamped with a rubber stamp to the effect "that the said affidavit was void when the child left the establishment in which he was found employed by the inspector." This action was necessary because there were some 20,000 children employed in the State during the months of July and August, who because the law was retroactive in its effect would have had to procure in exchange for the notary public affidavit an age and school certificate, before the child could legally continue in its employment. To do this was impossible, because the principals and superintendents of schools, the only officials under the statute having authority to issue age and school certificates, were absent on their summer vacations and the schools were closed. No child who was apparently under 14 years of age was permitted to continue in employment under a notary public affidavit.

Such children were ordered dismissed immediately upon the inspector's visit to the establishment where the child was employed; the inspector would instruct the manager not to permit the child to come back to work unless said child first procured an age and school certificate.

To all county superintendents of schools and to all local school principals and superintendents throughout the entire state were mailed by this department, a copy of the law, and a specially prepared letter of instruction advising the school officials of their new duties which required them to issue age and school certificates; this letter gave full instructions as to how such certificates were to be issued, and instructions how to surmount difficulties which would be met with by the school officials in passing upon applicants for certificates. We had a large quantity of school and age and school certificates printed, which were furnished to the public and parochial school authorities, because of the necessity of having a uniform certificate, no provision having been made in the law as to who should supply school officials with these blank certificates. This was an oversight and should be remedied, as it placed upon the department a heavy unforeseen tax on its already limited appropriation. The necessity for supplying the school officials with a small supply of these blanks gratis, may be readily appreciated, as previous to the department's having these blanks printed and furnished to school officials, many of the superintendents and principals were issuing the age and school certificates in long hand and in type-writing, and in various forms, and the employers were at a loss to know when a certificate was a genuine certificate. The indiscriminate manner in which they were being issued precluded the employer from telling the spurious from the genuine.

In Chicago the public school officials established headquarters during the summer months at the Jones school, Harrison street and Plymouth place, where all applicants who had attended the Chicago public schools and were above the age of 14 years, desiring to go to work, applied for their certificates. These emergency headquarters were necessary because of the schools being closed, but were abandoned when the new school term began and the public schools were reopened in September, when the superintendent of the Chicago public schools supplied each school principal with a supply of blank school and age and school certificates and deputized each principal to issue the age and school certificates, as well as the school certificates. This plan was also followed in the Chicago parochial schools, but owing to the multiplicity of public and parochial schools, each of whose principals had authority to issue age and school certificates, quite a little confusion resulted and it was deemed advisable to adopt a more practical method and to centralize authority, so that the final permit to labor (the age and school certificate) would be signed by some school official whose name would be readily recognized, establishing the same as genuine. With a desire to preclude the possibility of fraud and evasion, efforts were put forth to establish a central bureau where the public and parochial school authorities would each be represented, and to which address all children between 14 and 16 years of age, who were seeking to go to work in the city of Chicago, could be directed to get their permit.

After several meetings with the various school authorities a central bureau was established in room 410 Security building, at which address the superintendent of the public schools and the superintendent of the Chicago parochial schools maintained a representative who was authorized to issue age and school certificates to children who had attended their respective schools. This central office was not established until considerable effort had been put forth to bring it about and to properly organize the same. Credit for the successful culmination of these efforts, in a large measure, is due to the earnest and untiring interest of Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, through whose efforts were solved many of the difficulties encountered.

At this central issuing office age and school certificates are now issued for all children who have attended the public and parochial schools of Chicago. The manner in which these certificates are procured is as follows: Applicants must apply to the school which they last attended for a school certificate, which is a transcript of the school records giving the date of birth of a child as it appears upon the school books; this school certificate also certifies that the holder is a child above the age of 14 and can read and write legibly simple sentences. After procuring this school certificate the child, accompanied either by its parent or guardian, will appear at the central issuing office where said child will be measured and weighed, its general description recorded and its school certificate filed, in exchange for which there will be issued to the child an age and school certificate, which includes a description of the child and a statement as to its age, which statement is sworn to and verified by the parent and certified to by the public or parochial school issuing officials. These certificates are issued in triplicate and are numbered; the original is given to the child to be handed to its employer, who must keep the same on file as long as the child is in his employ; the duplicate is retained by the school authorities and the triplicate forwarded to the factory inspector. This system gives us a very complete check upon all children employed in the city of Chicago.

The establishment of the central issuing office has greatly aided in the work of enforcing the law, because each child who applies for a permit to labor becomes familiar with the law's provisions and naturally conveys to his or her employer the information relative to the same. It was intended to include in this report a statistical report of the work accomplished by the central issuing office, but owing to the limited force of clerks it has been impossible to properly compile the same in time to be included in this volume.

On the following pages may be found drafts of bills which were submitted to the Legislature as suggestions for new laws.

Following these drafts may be found a complete and statistical digest table of the work accomplished by the department.

(Suggested to the Legislature for enactment.)

It shall be the duty of every occupant, whether owner or lessee, of any premises so used as to come within the provisions of sections five (5), six (6) and seven (7) of this act, to carry out the same and to make all the changes and additions necessary therefor. In case such changes are made upon the order of the State Factory Inspector, by the lessee of the premises, he may at any time within thirty days after the completion thereof bring an action before any justice of the peace, municipal or district court, having competent jurisdiction, against any person having an interest in such premises and may recover such proportion of the expenses of making such changes and additions as the court adjudges should justly and equitably be borne by such defendant.

§ 8. The person in charge of any factory shall report in writing to the State Factory Inspector all accidents or injuries sustained by any persons therein, within forty-eight hours after the time of the accident, stating as fully as possible the extent and cause of the injury, and the place where the injured person has been sent, with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the factory inspector, who may investigate the cause of such accident, and require such precautions to be taken as will, in his judgment, prevent the recurrence of similar accidents.

§ 9. A copy of this act, together with the name and address of the Chief State Factory Inspector, printed in a legible manner, shall be kept posted in each workroom of every factory, mill and workshop, and in the office of every public and private works, upon the employer or his agent or superintendent being supplied with copies thereof by one of the factory inspectors.

§ 11. No more employes shall be required or permitted to work in a room in a factory between the hours of 6:00 o'clock in the morning and 6:00 o'clock in the evening than will allow to each of such employes, not less than 250 cubic feet of air space; and, unless by a written permit of the factory inspector, not less than 400 cubic feet for each employe so employed between the hours of 6:00 o'clock in the evening and 6:00 o'clock in the morning, provided such room is lighted by electricity at all times during such hours while persons are employed therein.

§ 12. The owner, agent or lessee of a factory shall provide in each workroom thereof, proper and sufficient means of ventilation; in case of failure the State Factory Inspector shall order such ventilation to be provided. Such owner, agent or lessee shall provide such ventilation within twenty days § 13. When a factory inspector, in connection with his visit to any factory, workshop, building or public or private works, finds on the part of the person owning, operating, or managing the same, any act, default or omission mentioned in any local ordinance of any city, town or village, provided for the protection of employes, the said inspector may give written notice of said act, omission or default to the proper local municipal authority or department and take any steps permissible under said local ordinance for the enforcement of the same. Whenever any act or omission mentioned under this act is also any act or omission under the provisions of any local ordinance of any city or municipality, any person who has previously given written notice to the proper local authority or department may, after a period of thirty days, petition in writing, to the State Factory Inspector, providing the said local authority or department have not in the meantime enforced said ordinance. The Chief State Factory Inspector upon receipt of said petition, either in person or by one of the deputy factory inspectors, shall, as soon as possible, examine into the matter and take such steps as may be necessary to enforce this act and other acts providing for the protection of employes.

§ 14. The orders and notices required under this chapter shall be written or printed, and signed officially by the Chief State Factory Inspector, or by one of the deputy factory inspectors, and may be served by one of those officers or by any other officer or indifferent person by delivering to the person upon whom service is to be made, or by leaving at his usual place of abode or business an attested copy thereof. Notice to one member of a firm shall be notice to every member thereof, and notice to the president, secretary or treasurer or managing agent, or superintendent of a corporation, shall be notice to such corporation.

No criminal prosecution shall be made for any violation of the provisions of the first six sections of this act until thirty days after notice, in writing, by a factory inspector, of any change necessary to be made to comply with the provisions of this act, has been served upon said persons and not then, if in the meantime such changes have been made in accordance with such notification. This period of thirty days shall not, however, be allowed to the owner, agent or manager of any factory, mill or workshop, or other building where said owner, agent or manager has been ordered to put a water closet or privy being due to the neglect or carelessness in its management or supervision. The owner, manager or agent in such case shall be liable for the penalty of this section if he fails to put said closet or privy into good sanitary condition within forty-eight hours from the receipt of the notice required by this act.

§ 16. It shall be the duty of the Chief State Factory Inspector and of each of the deputy factory inspectors, under the direction and supervision of the chief factory inspector, to secure the enforcement of this act, and of other acts providing for the protection of employes, now or hereafter to be enacted. And for that purpose they and each of them are hereby empowered to visit and inspect at all reasonable hours, and at all times during working hours and as often as shall be necessary, all factories, mills, workshops, buildings and public and private works where labor is employed in this State. In the enforcement of this act the chief factory inspector, assistant chief factory inspector, or deputy factory inspectors, under the supervision and direction of the chief factory inspector, shall give proper notices or orders to the person owning, operating or managing the factory, mill, foundry or workshop, building, public or private works inspected by them or by either of them.

§ 17. It shall be the special duty of the State Factory Inspector to enforce the provisions of this act, and to prosecute all violations of the same before any magistrate or any court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

A BILL

For an act to regulate the manufacture of clothing, wearing apparel and other articles in this State, and to provide for the enforcement of the same.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That no tenement house or dwelling nor any part thereof shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing therein any coats, vests, knee-pants, trousers, overalls, cloaks, hats, caps, suspenders, jerseys, blouses, dresses, waists, waist-bands, underwear, neckwear, furs, fur trimmings, fur garments, skirts, shirts, aprons, purses, pocketbooks, slippers, paper boxes, paper bags, feathers, artificial flowers, cigarettes or cigars, without a license therefor as provided in this article. But nothing herein contained shall apply to collars, cuffs, shirts or shirt waists made of cotton or linen fabrics that are subjected to the laundrying process before being offered for sale. Application for such a license shall be made annually before the first day of September of each year to the State

Factory Inspector at the office of the Chief State Factory Inspector by the owner of such tenement house or dwelling, or by his duly authorized agent. Such application shall describe the house or building by street number or otherwise, as the case may be, in such manner as will enable the factory inspector easily to find the same; it shall also state the number of apartments in such house or building. It shall contain the full name and address of the owner of the said tenement house or dwelling and the owner of the workshop to be located therein, and shall be in such form as the factory inspector shall determine. Blank applications shall be prepared and furnished by the factory inspector. Upon receipt of such application the factory inspector shall consult the records of the local health department or board, or other appropriate local authorities charged with the duty of sanitary inspection of said houses; if such records show the presence of any infectious, contagious or communicable disease, or the existence of any uncomplished with orders or violations which indicate the presence of unsanitary conditions in such house, the factory inspector may, without an inspection of the building, deny such application for license, and may continue to deny such application until such time as the records of said local health department, board or other local authority show that the said tenement house or dwelling is free from the presence of infectious, contagious or communicable disease, and from all unsanitary conditions. Before, however, any such license is granted, an inspection of the buildings sought to be licensed must be made by the factory inspector, or one of his deputies, and a statement must be filed by him as a matter of public record, to the effect that the records of the local health department or board or other appropriate authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection of such houses, show the existence of no infectious, contagious or communicable disease nor of any unsanitary conditions in the said tenement house or dwelling; such statement must be dated and signed in ink with the full name of the employé responsible therefor. A similar statement similarly signed, showing the result of the inspection of the said tenement house or dwelling must also be filed in the office of the factory inspector before any license is granted. If the factory inspector ascertains that such tenement house or dwelling is free from infectious, contagious or communicable disease, that there are no defects of plumbing that will permit the free entrance of sewer air, that such tenement house or dwelling is in a clean and proper sanitary condition and that the articles specified in this section may be manufactured therein under clean and healthful conditions, he shall grant a license permitting the use of such tenement house or dwelling for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing, or finishing such articles. Such license shall be framed; such license and frame to be furnished by the State Factory Inspector upon receipt by him of one dollar for which a receipt in writing shall be given, and shall be posted in a conspicuous place in said tenement house or dwelling on the entrance floor of the building to which it relates. Any license may be revoked by the State Factory Inspector if the health of the community or of the employés requires it, or if the owner of said tenement house or dwelling, or his duly authorized agent fails to comply with the orders of the factory inspector within ten days after the receipt of such orders, or if it appears that the building to which such license relates is not in a healthful and proper sanitary condition. In every case where a license is revoked or denied by the factory inspector the reasons therefor shall be stated in writing, and the records of such revocation or denial shall be deemed public records. Where a license is revoked, before such tenement house or dwelling can again be used for the purpose specified in this section, a new license must be obtained, as if no license had previously existed. Every tenement house or dwelling and all parts thereof in which any of the articles named in this section are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and shall be subject to inspection and examination by the factory inspector, for the purpose of ascertaining whether said article or articles or part or parts thereof, are clean and free from vermin and every matter of an infectious or contagious nature. An inspection shall be made by the factory inspector of each licensed tenement house or dwelling not less than once in every six months, to determine its sanitary condition. Before making such inspection the factory inspector may consult the records of the local health department or board or other appropriate authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection of tenement houses or dwellings to determine the frequency of orders issued by such local health department or board in relation to the said tenement house or dwelling, since the last inspection of such building was made by the factory inspector. Whenever the factory inspector finds any unsanitary condition in a tenement house or dwelling for which a license has been issued as provided in this section, he shall at once issue an order to the owner thereof directing to remedy such condition forthwith. Whenever the State Factory Inspector finds any of the articles specified in this section manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or in process thereof, in a room or apartment of a tenement house or dwelling and such room or rooms or apartment is in a filthy condition, he shall notify the tenants thereof to immediately clean the same, and to maintain it in a cleanly condition at all times; where the State Factory Inspector finds such room or apartment to be habitually kept in a filthy condition, he may in his discretion cause to be affixed to the entrance door of such room or apartment a placard calling attention to such facts and prohibiting the manufacture, alteration, repairing or finishing of said articles therein. No person except the State Factory Inspector or one of his deputies, shall remove or deface any such placard so affixed. None of the articles specified in this section shall be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished in any room or apartment of a tenement house or dwelling where there is or has been a case of infectious, contagious, or communicable disease in such room or apartment, until such time as the local health department or board or other appropriate local authority shall certify to the factory inspector that such disease has terminated, and that the said room or apartment has been carefully disinfected, if disinfection after such disease is required by the local ordinances, or by the rules or regulations of such local health department or board or other appropriate local authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection of such tenement house or dwelling. None of the articles specified in this section shall be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished in a part of the cellar or basement of a tenement house or dwelling which is more than one-half of its height below the level of the curb or ground outside of or adjoining the same. None of the articles specified in this section shall be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished in any room or apartment of a tenement house or dwelling used for eating or sleeping purposes by any person other than members of the family living therein, which shall include a husband and wife and their children or the children of either. Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the purpose of making, altering, repairing or finishing any article of wearing apparel for the use of such person or family.

§ 2. REGISTER OF PERSONS TO WHOM WORK IS GIVEN. Persons, firms, or corporations contracting for the manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing of any of the articles mentioned in section 1 of this act or giving out material from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall keep a register of the names and addresses plainly written in English of the persons, firms or corporations to whom such articles or materials are given to be so manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or with whom they have contracted to do the same. It shall be incumbent upon all persons contracting for the manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing of any of the articles specified in section 1 of this act, or giving out material from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, before giving out the same to ascertain from the office of the factory inspector whether the tenement house or dwelling in which such articles or materials are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, is licensed as provided in this act, and none of the said articles or any of the material from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, shall be given out or sent to any person residing or employed in a tenement house or dwelling, in which there exists any infectious, contagious or communicable disease. The register mentioned in this section shall be subject to inspection by the factory inspector, and a copy thereof shall be furnished on his demand as well as such other information as he may require.

§ 3. GOODS UNLAWFULLY MANUFACTURED TO BE LABELED. Articles manufactured, altered, repaired or finished contrary to the provisions of section 1 of this act shall not be sold or exposed for sale by any person, firm or corporation. The factory inspector shall conspicuously affix to any such article found to be unlawfully manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, a label containing the words "tenement-made" printed in small pica capital letters on a tag not less than four inches in length. The factory inspector shall notify the person owning or alleging to own such article that he has so labeled it. No person except the factory inspector or one of his deputies shall remove or deface any tag or label so affixed.

§ 4. POWERS AND DUTIES OF BOARDS OF HEALTH RELATIVE TO TENEMENT-MADE ARTICLES. If the factory inspector finds evidence of disease present in a room or apartment in a tenement house or dwelling in which any of the articles named in section 1 of this act are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, or in process thereof, he shall affix to such articles the label prescribed in the preceding section, and immediately report to the local board of health who shall disinfect such articles, if necessary, and thereupon the factory inspector shall cause such label to be removed. If the factory inspector finds that infectious, contagious or communicable diseases exist in a room or apartment of a tenement house or dwelling in which any of the articles specified in section 1 of this act are being manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, or that articles manufactured or in process of manufacture therein are infected, or that goods used therein are unfit for use, he shall report to the local board of health. The local health department or board in every city, town and village whenever there is any infectious, contagious or communicable disease in a tenement house or dwelling shall cause an inspection of such tenement house to be made within forty-eight hours. If any of the articles specified in section 1 of this act are found to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, or in process thereof in a room or apartment in which such disease exists, such board shall issue such order as the public health shall require, and shall at once report such facts to the factory inspector, furnishing such further information as he may require. Such board may condemn and destroy such infected article or articles manufactured or in process of manufacture under unclean or unhealthful conditions. The local health department or board or other appropriate authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection of such houses in every city, town and village, shall, when so requested by the factory inspector, furnish copies of its record as to the presence of infectious, contagious or communicable disease, or of unsanitary conditions in said houses, and shall furnish such other information as may be necessary to enable the factory inspector to carry out the provisions of this act.

§ 5. INSPECTION OF ARTICLES MANUFACTURED IN OTHER STATES. Whenever it is reported to the factory inspector that any of the articles named in section 1 of this act are being shipped into this State, having previously been manufactured in whole or in part under unclean, unsanitary or unhealthy conditions, said inspector shall examine said articles and the conditions of their manufacture, and if, upon such examination, said goods or any part of them are found to contain vermin or to have been manufactured in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall forthwith affix to them the tag or label hereinbefore described and report thereof to the local board of health, which board shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public safety may require.

§ 6. OWNER OF TENEMENT AND DWELLING HOUSES NOT TO PERMIT THE UNLAWFUL USE THEREOF. The owner or agent of a tenement house or dwelling house shall not permit the use thereof for the manufacture, alteration, repairing or finishing of any of the articles mentioned in section 1 of this act, contrary to the provisions of this act. If a room or apartment in such tenement house or dwelling house be so unlawfully used the factory inspector shall serve a notice thereof upon such owner or agent of the building. Unless such owner or agent of the building shall cause such unlawful manufacture to be discontinued within ten days after the service of such notice, or within fifteen days thereafter institutes and faithfully prosecutes proceedings for the dispossession of the occupant of a tenement house or dwelling house who unlawfully manufactures, alters, repairs or finishes such articles therein, he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this act, as if he, himself, was engaged in such unlawful manufacture, alteration, repairing or finishing. The unlawful manufacture, alteration, repairing or finishing of any of such articles by the occupant of a room or apartment of a tenement house or dwelling, shall be a cause for dispossessing such occupant by summary proceedings to recover possession of real property, as provided by the statutes of the State.

§ 7. COPY OF ARTICLES TO BE POSTED. A copy of this act shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each workroom of every tenement house or dwelling where persons are employed who are effected by the provisions herein; and every person or persons so occupying or having control of any workshop as aforesaid shall within thirty days from the taking effect of this act or from the time of beginning of work in any workshop as aforesaid, notify the board of health and factory inspector of the location of such workshop, the nature of the work there carried on, and the number of persons therein employed.

§ 8. MONEY FROM FEES AND FINES FOR ENFORCING ACT—YEARLY ACCOUNT—BALANCE, HOW KEPT. All money or moneys received from fees and fines shall be held by the State Factory Inspector and shall constitute a fund for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act; and said State Factory Inspector shall, at the end of each fiscal year, make an account of said fund and pay into the State treasury whatever balance shall remain after paying the necessary disbursements for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act.

§ 9. PRINTING, ETC., FURNISHED BY SECRETARY OF STATE. All printing, blanks, books, stationery, licenses, frames and such other supplies as may be necessary for the proper enforcement of this act shall be furnished by the Secretary of State upon requisition for the same by the State Factory Inspector.

§ 10. The words "tenement house or dwelling" as used in this act shall be construed to mean any room or building used for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing in whole or in part any of the articles mentioned in section 1 of this act.

§ 11. PENALTY. Any person, firm, partnership or corporation violating the provisions of this act or any part thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00).

§ 12. DUTY OF THE STATE FACTORY INSPECTOR TO ENFORCE ACT. It shall be the duty of the State Factory Inspector to enforce this act. When informed of any violation it shall be his duty to institute criminal proceedings for the enforcement of its penalties before any court of competent jurisdiction.

§ 13. Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, of "An Act to regulate the manufacture of clothing, wearing apparel and other articles within this State and to provide for State inspectors to enforce the same and make an appropriation therefor" approved June 11, 1893, as amended by an act approved May 15, 1903, in force July 1, 1903, be and are hereby repealed.

WILLIAM STRUTHERS,
Plaintiff in Error,

vs.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS,
Defendants in Error.

Error to the county court of Macoupin county.

GEST, J.

This is an information in the county court of Macoupin county charging the plaintiff in error with a violation of section 11 of the act entitled "An Act to regulate the employment of children in the State of Illinois and to provide for the enforcement thereof," which act went into effect July 1, 1903. Said section prohibits the employment of children under the age of 16 years in divers employments specifically named. "or in any other employment that may be considered dangerous to their lives or limbs, or where their health may be injured or morals depraved." Defendant was found guilty and fine imposed upon him.

It is not disputed that defendant employed the boys to work in the coal mine, and that they did so work, and then were under the age of 16 years and over the age of 14 years, and it is admitted by counsel for defendant, for the purpose of this case, that coal mining is an occupation dangerous to the life and limb of those employed therein. Moreover it is manifest from the mining act itself that employment in a coal mine is classed by the Legislature among occupations dangerous to life, limbs and health. The title and every section of the act clearly shows it. Minute provision is made for the safety of employes from the moment they reach the shaft and enter the cage to descend to their work until they again reach the surface. It is recognized that danger lurks around them, descending and ascending, in roadways, rooms and entries; wherever they may be or go while in the mine; danger from breaking ropes, falling rocks, damp, dust, explosions, poisonous air and other things and conditions.

As stated by counsel for defendant, the sole question in this case is: Whether said section 11 includes within the scope of its operation the owners and operators of coal mines. It is claimed by defendant that said section does not apply to the employment in coal mines of boys under 16 years of age but that section 22 of the act entitled, "An act to revise the law in relation to coal mines and subjects relating thereto, and providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein," approved April 18, 1899, and in force July 1, 1899, is the only provision applicable to such employment. Said section 22 is as follows: "No boy under the age of 14 years, and no woman or girl of any age shall be permitted to do any manual labor in or about any mine, and before any boy can be permitted to do any work in any mine he must produce to the mine manager or operator thereof, an affidavit from his parent or guardian, or next of kin, sworn and subscribed to before a justice of the peace or a notary public, that he, the said boy, is 14 years of age." This section prohibits the employment of boys under the age of 14 years in any coal mine, and permits such employment of boys who have reached that age. The question presented is whether that clause of section 22 of the mining act which permits the employment of boys who are of the age of 14 years, in coal mines, was repealed by the child labor act of 1903. If it was so repealed it was not in express terms but by implication. The repealing section of the act of 1903, is as follows: "An act to prevent child labor approved June 17, 1891, in force July 1, 1891, and all other acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed." If that clause in the mining act was repealed, it was because of irreconcilable conflict with the act of 1903.

It is argued by the people that employment in a coal mine is dangerous and that therefore the said clause of the mining act is expressly repealed by the above quoted repealing section. The words, "all other acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act" in a repealing section of a legislative act add nothing to the legal effect of the act passed. The question still remains whether a conflict exists, and if there be a conflict then the former act, as far as such conflict exists, is repealed by implication.

It is contended by plaintiff in error that repeals by implication are not favored; that such repeal will not be held unless the two provisions are irreconcilable; that the above quoted clause of the mining act and the act of 1903 are in pari materiu, and are to be construed together and effect given to each, if possible; that it must appear to have been the intention of the Legislature to repeal; otherwise the former act will not be held as repealed; and that general words in a statute, following a specific enumeration, include only cases of the same kind enumerated. Each of these propositions is a correct statement of the law. It is also urged that a subsequent statute which is general does not abrogate a former statute which is particular. This proposition is also correct in general, but it is at times difficult of application and is subject to exception. At the outset it is necessary to bear in mind that the only purpose sought to be accomplished by the construction and interpretation of statutes is to ascertain the legislative intent. All the rules adopted by the courts for such construction and interpretation have their basis in their supposed adaptability to throw light on that inquiry.

In order to ascertain the legislative intent in the present instance, it is proper to take into consideration the legislation that has been had in this State upon the subject of child labor, the existing statutes, and the evil, if any, to be remedied. An act approved June 17th, 1891, was entitled "An Act to prevent child labor." It prohibited the hiring of any child under the age of 13 years except where the labor of such child constituted the means of support of an aged or infirm relative, and then only upon a certificate issued as provided by the act. The act approved June 17th, 1893, was entitled "An Act to regulate the manufacture of clothing, etc.," and provided by section 4, "No child under 14 years of age shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment, or factory, or workshop in this State," and further provided that no child between the ages of 14 and 16 years should be employed by any person, firm or corporation employing children except upon compliance with certain conditions stated. An act entitled in the same words as the act first above mentioned was approved June 9th, 1897, and went into effect July 1st, 1897. Section 6 of this act provides, "No child under the age of 16 years shall be employed, or permitted, or suffered to work by any person, firm or corporation in this State at such extra hazardous employment whereby its life or limb is in danger or its health is likely to be injured or its morals may be depraved." It is apparent from a reading of that act that the word "such" above quoted means "any". The next act containing provisions upon the subject of employment of child labor appears to be the act first above mentioned, upon which this information is based. It is manifest from this legislation that the employment of children has become of late years a growing evil. The development of industries already established and the formation of new ones, within even the last twenty-five years, has been very remarkable and the end appears not yet.

Very many of these, it has been found, can be successfully run by child labor and at much less expense for wages than by the labor of adults. It had come that large numbers of mere children were engaged in labor as continuously as adults; the desire of poor parents to have the aid of their children and the cupidity of employers united to bring about practically a condition of servitude of such children. Their lives, limbs and health and their minds and morals were sacrificed for gain. The Legislature interfered and the education of the children of the State was made compulsory; their employment in labor of any kind up to a certain age, and their employment in labor dangerous to life, limb, health or morals up to a still higher age was forbidden, and now stands forbidden unless permitted in the one business of coal mining. A mere reading of these various acts of the Legislature shows a constantly increasing sense of the evil existing, the necessity of restraining and preventing it, and the intent so to do. The act of 1891 put the age at 13 and upon certain conditions. The next General Assembly put the age at 14 for employment in "any manufacturing establishment, factory or workshop," and upon certain conditions, which last named statute is still in force. Four years afterwards, by the Coal Mining Act, the Legislature prohibited the employment of boys under 14 in coal mines, and four years after that, by the act of 1903, prohibited the labor of children under 16 in a large number of employments of various kinds specifically named, and all other employment dangerous to life, limb, health or morals. Upon the point made that the general words, "any other employment that may be considered dangerous, etc.," refer only to employment of the like kind before enumerated: section 11 of the Child Labor Act, among other things, prohibits children under 16 from employment in sewing belts, adjusting belts to machinery, oiling, wiping, or cleaning machinery, operating machinery of many specified kinds, operating passenger or freight elevators, or as pin boys in bowling alleys, preparing any composition in which dangerous or poisonous acids are used, manufacture of paints, oils or white lead, manufacture of goods for immoral purposes, in any theatre, concert hall or place of amusement wherein intoxicating liquor is sold.

It is said by counsel. "The occupation of coal mining is in no way kindred to any of the enumerated occupations of section 11." There would seem to be as close relation between the business of the pin boy and the boy in the coal mine as between any of the employments forbidden. The kinship lies in the dangerous nature of the occupation. It is urged by plaintiff in error that the Child Labor Act of 1903, is general, and that the Mining Act is special, and therefore the latter act is not within the scope of the former. Potter's Dwarrris, p. 272, expresses the proposition as follows: "General clauses in the same statute, but a thing given in particular shall not be tolled by general words. The meaning of which is that when the law descends to particulars such mere special provisions must be understood as exceptions to any general rules laid down to the contrary and the general rules must not be alleged in confutation of the special provisions." Can it reasonably be said that section 22 of the Mining Act is to be treated as an exception from the prohibition? Was that the legislative intent? Divers cases are cited by plaintiff in error supposed to be pertinent to that question in this case. We do not so consider them. In each of the cases cited the two acts claimed to be in conflict were both permissive or both prohibitory. For illustration, in Litchfield Coal Co. vs. Taylor, 81st Ill., 590, one of the cases cited, the suit was brought by the widow of a deceased miner whose death had been occasioned by the wilful violation of the provisions of chapter 93 of Revised Statutes of 1874, but was brought in her name as administratrix of his estate. She was allowed to amend so as to permit the action to proceed in her name as widow. Chapter 93 went into force July 1st, 1872, and section 14 of that chapter permits suit in the name of the widow. Chapter 70 of the Revised Statutes entitled "Injuries" was first enacted Feb. 12th, 1853, and provides for suit, in case of death by wrongful act, neglect or default, in the name of the personal representative, the administrator. It was urged that it was error to make the change from administratrix to widow, but the court held otherwise, that both acts could stand, and say: chapter 93 is special, and embraces the cases specially enumerated therein, and chapter 70 is general and embraces all other cases. It is manifest there is not repugnance, no irreconcilable conflict, between the two acts, that the provisions of both can be enforced, both acts are grants of power, permissions given, to sue. It is not a case of permission given in one act and of prohibition in another and subsequent act.

In Potter's Dwaris, page 131, it is said: "In all cases when what is only permitted is found incompatible with what is prescribed, the latter has the advantage." The act of 1899 is special in that its scope is the regulation of the child labor in the State of Illinois. The act of 1903, and section 22 of the act of 1899, are in part materia, and are to be considered as framed on one system and having one object in view, to-wit: the regulation of child labor in Illinois; and in construing them, contemporaneous, antecedent and subsequent statutes on the same subject matter may be examined and considered. Potter's Dwaris, page 189. If the latter part of a statute be repugnant to a former part of it, the latter part shall stand, because it was last agreed to by the Legislature. Idem., p. 113. Work in a coal mine is dangerous; the particular employments prohibited in the act of 1903 are dangerous, and all other dangerous employments are prohibited. The Child Labor Act was passed four years after the Coal Mine Act. But treating the Mining Act as a special act, the rule that the provisions of a special act are not to be deemed as repealed by a general act is not without exception. In 186 Ill., p. 172-173, it is said: "It is a well settled principle of statutory construction, that a subsequent statute which revises the whole subject of a former one, and is intended as a substitute for it, operates as a repeal of the former, although it contains no express words to that effect. The rule thus announced is applicable even when the provisions of a prior law are contained in a special act. Andrew v. People, 75 Ill., 605; People v. Board of Education, 166 Ill., 388. Where the Legislature frames a new statute upon a certain subject matter, and the legislative intention appears from the latter statute to be to frame a new scheme in relation to such subject matter and make a revision of the whole subject, there is in effect a legislative declaration, that whatever is embraced in the new statute shall prevail, and that whatever is excluded is disregarded. The revision of the whole subject matter by the new statute evinces an intention to substitute the provisions of the new law for the old law upon the subject." When we take into consideration the legislation of this State on the subject of care for its children, care of their physical, mental and moral integrity, and at the same time consider what evils existed, tending to show the intent of such legislation; when we examine such legislation in its separate acts and as a whole, special or general; when it is scrutinized with the aid of the rules of construction and interpretation pertinent thereto, it is not possible to avoid the conclusion that the age limit for employment of boys in coal mines was changed by the act of 1903 from 14 to 16 years. Employers of child labor are bound to take notice of the character of employment for which they hire such labor and see to it that it be not dangerous to life or limb, health or morals. They hire such labor at their peril. Any other construction of the clause of section 11 under consideration would render it wholly nugatory.

The judgment will be affirmed.

Judgment affirmed.
